“ Sister Brown was a wonderful Christian woman. She'll be missed by many, but not forgotten. The comfort of knowing she is in a better place, awaiting for all to be with her, if we are faithful. Our prayers are with the family at this time.

“ When my husband and I were dating, we lived two and a half hours apart. He needed a place to stay when he would come to visit me. Mrs. Brown opened her home to him, housed and fed him. We will always remember her sweet hospitality. She was a very dear, sweet woman, a godly example. We are blessed to have known her.

One other memory of Mrs. Brown was a conversation I had with her, during a trip we made together before I met my husband, in which she told me her favorite passage (or at least it was one of her favorites) in the Bible was

Psalm 37:25 "I have been young, and now am old; yet have I not seen the righteous forsaken, nor his seed begging bread." (KJ)

It speaks to the faith she had in God. Of course I think of King David's observation, but Agnes Brown also comes to mind when I read or hear this scripture.

Lovingly,
