“ We extend our sincere condolences to your family. Psalms 46:1 says "God is a refuge and strength. A help that is readily found in times of distress." May God provide you with peace and comfort to endure the days ahead.

“ My foremost memory of Allan was the great debates. I was fortunate enough to share a weekend in the mountains with my wife, Robyn, and Allan some years ago.We all rode the ol time choo choo and during one stop he found a huge shitake mushroom on a log. He spent the whole train ride back whittling on that thing. It was fun times in Gatlinburg as always shared with friends. Now, Allan was always happy to hear your opinion. It's only when you offered it as fact, that he was at his best. He was quick to pick it apart in the way that only a New Yorker can. Someday, when I cross over, I look forward to conversing with him again. Especially in our enlightened state we'll enjoy forever. Godspeed Allan Bang.

“ Our lives will never be the same without your presence. We have so many wonderful, crazy and fun memories. Love is the predominant word I think of when I think of you. I so enjoyed our "little talks". Our children, (Kim, Lauren & Katie), loved their Gpaw so very much, all the little life lessons you taught them, but mostly you loved them so unconditionally, (as well as Alan & I). We feel blessed to have shared so many "life adventures" with you and Robyn. You will be missed, may your never-ending love be a comforter and surround us all during this tragic time.

“ Dear Handy Man;

It is hard to explain how I felt about you, you exasperated me and confused me and made me laugh. You said things that to this day I do not get but its okay.

I worked with you I was your handy gal and I learned a lot from you, I learned how to use a drill and a saw, I learned how to cut and weed eat and lay sod. I learned that I was stronger than I thought I was and that I was capable of anything I put my mind to. I learned to laugh at my mistakes and not do it again and I learned that there are people who accept you for who you are.

You did not change the way you felt about me even if I screwed up because you knew we were both flawed and it did not matter in the grand scheme of things. You were my friend and at times my confidant but the thing that you did for me that I am the most grateful for is you loved my husband unconditionally. You were the kind of friend that he desperately needed. You understood the snakes in Roberts head and you made friends with them too. You could go months without speaking to each other and pick up right where you left off. Y'all had a connection that never faltered even when you disagreed.

You were an unique person a real one of a kind and my life is better for having had you in it and diminished now that you are gone.

So rest easy now Handyman the battle is over. I will forever love you and never forget you.

*Your,
Handygal.*

P.S. Tell Gina and Jesus I said hi!!

“ Dearest Robyn & Family,

Words cannot adequately express the feeling of sadness concerning Allan's death. A.J. was a man that once someone met him, they'd never forget him. He was the funniest man I have ever known, not just in his hilarious stories or reminiscences, but also when trying to make light of a bad situation. But when A.J. was sincere, it was with his whole heart and soul. These are just two of the many things we all will miss about him.

God bless you all, and may He bring comfort to your hearts and many happy memories to your minds as you go through this time of sorrow.
