“ To The Family: I am sorry for your loss, losing a loved one is hard to deal with but especially so with one so young. May the Bible’s message of a resurrection to life on a peaceful earth give you a measure of comfort and hope at this most difficult of times (Rev 21:4, Psalm 37:11)

The Bible promises that we can look forward to a time when Almighty God will return our family members to us just as Jesus demonstrated when he returned Jairus' daughter to her family. (Lu 8:41-56) Please accept my sincere condolences.

“ *Linh,
Words cannot begin to explain what I really want to say, but by me praying and talking to you, I know that you already know...I am so proud of the young woman that you became, and no matter what the past rendered, I will ALWAYS respect and miss you for being YOU. I am so sorry for what has happened, but I know that you are continuing to be here for Jr and Makalynn...you're beautiful babies. I love u, Linh, and no matter what you will definitely be the definition of a true angel to me! Walk with God, babygirl.
Love always!

“ Today a little butterfly flew by me.
I thought to myself where have you been little butterfly.

You come into this world as a cocoon all by yourself and blossom into this beautiful butterfly and fly off to see the world.

What you don't realize little butterfly as you flutter through your days is how you touch those around you in your soft gentle way.

You don't even realize the wonder and awe you create around you. she fluttered her wings toward me as if she was waving good-by as she headed towards the horizon.

She looked very happy and content as she went on her way, as if to say to me “Don't worry I'll be okay”.

I was sad to see her go for she had touched my heart in such a way that

I knew my life would never be the same.

She had left an imprint of all the beauty life has to offer.

I knew each time I looked at another butterfly or horizon I would remember our moment in time when it was only her and I.

I knew I would be a better person all because this little butterfly flew by me one bright sunny day.

I LOVE YOU LYNN RIP!

“ Thoughts are what we have, but memories are the things that we cherish....I would come on your facebook page and say everytime I call you, you never pick up the phone and you would laugh and say my bad girl call me back.....When I would we would laugh and talk on the phone as if we knew each other for years. I don't know why God crossed our paths last year for us to meet but I thank God that he did. For I got the privilege of knowing such a wonderful and beautiful person <3 always so sexy diva for life Now you can rest baby girl and we will have our talks again

“ *From the first day I meet you, I knew you were a very sweet and beautiful person. I hate our Senior year is the only time we really had to get to know each other. We both transitioned into mother hood at the same time and you were there to talk to me and I will never forget that.!!! god bless your kids and family I love you girl....*

“ Losing you really hit close to home!! Something like that doesn't happen to an Angel! I'm hurting because of the promise you had right in front of you and it was snatched away!! May God keep you family and especially your babies!! That beautiful smile will live on through them!! You legacy will live on through us..your friends and family! For some of us, life won't be the same and for the rest of us... Well we know we'll be seeing you again some day! I wish I had a day with you just to see that smile again!! Rest easy baby girl!!

“ I will always remember Linh for being one of my brightest, dearest, and most determined students. I am so glad that I had the chance to work with her, to watch her become a loving mother, and to see her graduate from Hoover High School. I am so proud of all that she was able to accomplish in her life. Love, Mrs. Erica Young
