“ Oh how I will miss Sarah' words can not convey what the heart feels .But she knew how much we all loved her. And we know how she loved us .I just wish there was more time to tell her again. She was one of those people that you knew she loved her savior ,family and friends ,And everyone she met was a friend to her. We so enjoyed our trips to singings and were thinking about going to Texas. Thank you Sarah for being my friend'cuzin I will forever remember you and see you again in the sweet bye and bye.
My precious loving Sarah

“ So many things that I remember, beaches, Bible School, music, dancing, talking all night when we were together. We spent as much time at each other's houses as we could, of course, that wasn't hard since our moms were sisters. We told secrets, kept secrets and were truly each other's confidant. Whenever one of us had a problem, the first one we called was the other one. Oh how I am going to miss you and my Sunday phone calls just to talk about everything under the sun but mostly family. I am so sad, but not for Sarah, she is rejoicing with her Savior and all her family in heaven, but sad for all the people whose lives she touched. We are going to miss her so much.
